Tell him about airplanes and how they were all once really big birds that ran away from home and got lost in the sky. People ride them from one place to another to see if they can help them find their family again.

Tell him how the stars are born. Every evening, the sun breaks into millions of tiny pieces and shoots them across the sky. They spend their nights trying to outshine one other and see who goes to bed last.

A stoplight is mounted on a grey utility pole. The stoplight has a black square face with rounded corners. Inside the square, there is a whimsical illustration on a black background. It shows a large, glowing purple flower on the left, a small yellow cat sitting in the center, and a small yellow table on the right with a pink vase containing yellow flowers. Above the stoplight, there is a white cloud-like shape. The background of the entire image is a lush green tree and some purple flowers in the foreground.

Tell her about the man in the stoplight. They were looking for little volunteers to work inside stoplights so people will know when it's ok to cross the street. One guy was so good they asked him to stay there forever.
